

Manual for Electronic Theses and Dissertations

Introduction

Use this manual as a guide for setting up the format of your dissertation, thesis or document for electronic submission. Your dissertation will represent you, your department, and the University of Arizona in the international scholarly community. Your work is important and worthy of professional presentation. This manual lists Graduate College requirements for meeting these high standards.

In this manual the word dissertation includes documents and theses. If format requirements for the document or thesis vary from those for the dissertation, specific requirements for each will be listed.

Take a look at Current Research @: to browse dissertations and theses accepted at the University of Arizona.

The final dissertation must be submitted via the electronic submission site at <http://www.etsadmin.com/arizona> and must meet all specifications of this manual.

General Format Requirements

Margins

Text, illustrations (figures) or tables must not appear outside the specified margins. Specific margin requirements are listed in ORDER OF SECTIONS under each category. Page numbers are the only item which may appear outside the margin requirements.

Page numbers

- The title page is page 1 of the thesis. You may omit the printed page number on the title page; all other pages must have printed page numbers.
- All pages which follow are numbered in a single sequence with Arabic numerals.
- Page numbers must be placed at least 1 " below the top of the sheet, and 1" from the right edge.
- The numbers must be at least 1/4" above the first line of text.
- Do not use page headers.
- Do not use the phrase, 'Page xx'; just use the numeral.

Chapter Titles

- A new chapter must always begin on a new page. The chapter title should be in all capitals and centered, and should match the font size, type that you used in the Table of Contents when you listed it.

Type Fonts

- Standard serif typefaces reproduce and archive well.
- Do not use modern Sans Serif types, which read well in the original but do not reduce well. Ornamental styles such as Script and Old English may not be used due to their limited readability.
- Limit the use of italic styles to standard uses in bibliographic citations and foreign words.
- Boldface should be restricted to very small segments of the text and to infrequent occurrences.

Font Sizes

12-point or 14-point for proportional fonts; 10 or 12 for non-proportional fonts. Once you choose a font size, you should use that font size throughout your document. Changing font sizes is not aesthetically appealing, (the exception to the font size rule is data imported from other sources. It is acceptable to keep data imported from other sources in the native font size).

Scanned Documents

Scanned documents must meet all requirements for margins, page numbers, and readability.

Appendix A

Dissertation/Thesis Format Option for Inclusion of Published Papers

At the option of the student and the program of study committee, an alternate format permitting inclusion of papers published or accepted for publication in scholarly journals may be used.

The decision to allow the inclusion of previously published or submitted work in a dissertation or thesis is left to the candidate's degree-granting unit. In order to utilize the format each degree granting unit must have on file in the Graduate College a statement of policies with regard to items listed in Appendix A of this document.

The alternate format for the dissertation or thesis is based on the philosophy developed by the Council of Graduate Schools: The published work must be logically connected and integrated into the dissertation in a coherent manner. Simply binding reprints or collections of publications together is not acceptable as a dissertation in either format or concept.

Order of Sections for Published Papers Format

Published papers should be appended. However, in order to provide coherency, the body of the dissertation or thesis must include a summary of the student's contribution and a summary of the research.

Note that all margins, pagination and restrictions described earlier in the Manual for Dissertation and Thesis formatting applies.

1. Title Page
2. Signature Page (dissertation only)
3. Statement by Author
4. Acknowledgments
5. Dedication
6. Table of Contents
7. List of Illustrations (from Introduction & Present Study)
8. List of Tables (from Introduction & Present Study)
9. Abstract
10. Introduction
  - An introduction that describes the unique contribution of the student's work to the field of study. That uniqueness should be described via the following subsections to extent they are appropriate.
    - Explanation of the problem and its context
    - a review of the literature
    - explanation of dissertation/thesis format
      - papers where doctoral research efforts are part of a larger

Electronic Dissertation and Thesis, find samples and templates at <http://grad.arizona.edu/academics/degree-certification/diss-theses/samples-templates>

- collaborative project. Students must be able to identify one aspect of that project as their own and be able to demonstrate their original contribution. The role that the dissertation author had in the research and production of the published paper(s) should be clearly specified in this section.

11. Present Study

- A chapter labeled Present Study: that summarizes the methods, results and conclusions of the research. The chapter should begin with a statement such as: The methods, results, and conclusions of this study are presented in the paper appended to this dissertation/thesis. The following is a summary of the most important findings in this document.

12. References

- References for the two chapters described above. References should follow the 'Present Study' chapter.

13. Appendices (Each Manuscript is a separate appendix labeled A, B, C., etc.)

- Two types of appendices are appropriate:
  - Published Paper
  - Supplemental Material
  - Each paper in the form of a reprint
    - The statement of permission for use of copyrighted material must be placed immediately before the reprint.
    - The title page of the journal in which the article appeared should precede the statement of permission.
    - Reprints must be numbered in sequence.
    - Supplemental materials that are resources to the methods and results. These most often include data tables, graphs, and maps.

Multiple Authorship

Multiple authorship of papers that have been published or are to be submitted for publication is allowed. It is the responsibility of the student's doctoral committee to ensure that a dissertation represents the original, individual efforts of the candidate. It is recommended that the majority of the student's committee not be co-authors on papers included in the dissertation.

Requirements for Contemporaneous Enrollment and Research

1. The research that is described in the published papers that are part of the dissertation, must have been conducted during the time the candidate was enrolled in his or her current

Electronic Dissertation and Thesis, find samples and templates at

<http://grad.arizona.edu/academics/degree-certification/diss-theses/samples-templates>

degree program and cannot have been submitted toward any other degree at the University of Arizona or elsewhere.

Appendix B

Permissions

Use of copyrighted material in your dissertation, including illustrations, usually requires written permission from the copyright holder. Start this time-consuming process as early as possible. Play it safe and assume that you must obtain permission if the material is copyrighted. Consult your advisor or departmental graduate coordinator about this process.

Exceptions, sometimes pertaining to small fractions of a musical score or other document, are governed by the concept of "fair use." Factors weighed in determining "fair use" include: the purpose of the use, whether commercial or nonprofit and educational; the nature of the copyrighted work; the amount and substance of the material used in relation to the entire work; and the effect of the use upon the potential market for or value of the copyrighted work. The "fair use" concept is explained in detail in the Chicago Manual of Style. According to the Association of American University Presses, permission is required for quotations which are complete units, for example, an entire poem, letter, book chapter, or an entire map, chart, drawing or other illustration.

Permission to use copyrighted material should be in writing and retained by the author. The release letters should indicate that permission extends to microfilming and publication by University Microfilms Incorporated and that the copyright owners are aware that UMI may sell, on demand, single copies of the dissertation, thesis or document, including the copyrighted materials, for scholarly purposes. UMI requires copies of permission letters to be embedded in the document, and assumes no liability for copyright violations. If permission letters are not included, copyrighted materials may not be filmed.

It is polite and good practice to obtain permission to use noncopyrighted material, which may or may not be acknowledged in the text.

For additional information, telephone the Copyright Public Information Office in Washington, DC, (202) 479-0700, weekdays between 8:30 a.m. and 5:00 p.m. EST or write to the Copyright Office, Library of Congress, Washington D.C. 20559.

Appendix C

Human/Animal Subjects Approval

Research involving human subjects or live vertebrate animals requires permission from the relevant University committee. Consult your research director and the Human Subjects Office for details. Their telephone number is (520) 626-6721. You must have Human Subjects approval in your own name; your project is not covered under your director's approval.

Research activities involving the use of human subjects require the review and approval of the University Human Subjects Committee. A copy of the Human Subjects approval letter must be in the student's file in the Graduate College Degree Certification Office.

Research involving any live vertebrate animals must be approved by the Institutional Animal Care and Use Committee (IACUC) - The Animal Research Protocol Review form must be completed by the student/instructor and submitted to the protocol office for review and approval. Contact University Animal Care for instructions, forms and protocol. Their telephone number is (520) 621-3454

Appendix D

Illustrations, Tables, Graphs

- Same margin requirements as Body
- Place the top of a horizontally-oriented page on the left; the page number should appear in the normal position (the upper right corner of the rotated sheet)
- Printed page numbers are required

If the caption is so long that it will not fit on the page with the illustration or table, place it on its own numbered page immediately preceding the page it describes.

Appendix E

Oversized Materials

Reduce oversized pages, such as maps and pictures, to 8.5 by 11 inches without sacrificing legibility.

Appendix F

Photographs

Photographs should be high quality (600 dpi).
